

CITY IMPROVEMENTS ARE TO BE MOST EXTENSIVE

Improvements of magnitude were decided upon by the city commission at the session last night. Included in the list were three important projects found in measures adopted for the installation of a storm sewer on Madison avenue, from Twenty-seventh street to the Ogden river; the paving of Washington avenue from the Twenty-eighth street intersection to the south city limits on the Riverdale road, and the repairing of the concrete bridge over Ogden river at the mouth of Ogden canyon.

The storm sewer will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000, according to an estimate of Chris Flygare, commissioner of streets and public improvements, who brought the matter before the commission. In a communication in which he also recommended that the city engineer prepare the plans and specifications for the work. Mr. Flygare stated that the city already had the storm sewer in on Madison avenue, from Twenty-seventh street to Twenty-fifth street, beginning with a 24-inch pipe for the first block and a 30-inch sewer on the second block. The pipe will be 42 inches in diameter at the Ogden river.

The plan is to begin the construction of the sewer as early as conditions will permit. Mayor Abbot R. Heywood stated, however, that not a shovel of dirt would be turned in the project until a thorough investigation is made by a consulting engineer. He said that a flood caused by a recent torrential rain had developed a condition which must be remedied. Besides preventing an overflow in the downtown streets, the storm sewer, he pointed out, will drain all the territory east of Madison avenue and north of Twenty-seventh street to the Ogden river.

The mayor stated further that the sewer could be built with money from the road fund levy of two mills of the general taxes. The amount would be returned to that fund from the sewer fund later. The recommendation of Commissioner Flygare, that the engineer prepare the plans and specifications and notice to contractors, was adopted.

In relation to the paving of Washington avenue from Twenty-eighth street to the south city limits, a petition from taxpayers in the south part of the city, Commissioner Flygare submitted three recommendations for the paving, curbing and guttering a sewer in that district, and that the city engineer prepare the necessary plans and specifications and resolutions for the work to the work can begin early in the spring. The recommendation was adopted.

In speaking of this improvement Mayor Heywood said that it was necessary that it should be made at an early date, as that street was the entrance to the town from the south and east. The kind of material to be used, he said, would not be decided upon until the taxpayers in the district had been consulted.

Joseph M. Tracy, city engineer and A. F. Parker, consulting engineer, submitted lengthy reports upon the condition of the abutments and the wing walls of the concrete bridge at the mouth of the Ogden canyon. Both of the engineers were of the opinion that the work should be done before another spring flood which they declared would take out the bridge. They suggested the work be done while the water was low. Commissioner Flygare recommended that the city engineer prepare the necessary plans and specifications and notices to contractors and have the work done immediately. The recommendation was adopted.

City Engineer Joseph M. Tracy reported that in accordance with the law he had sewer connections made upon three pieces of property on Van Buren avenue between Twenty-fourth street and Twenty-sixth street, where paving work is being carried on. He reported the work had been done by John Smeding, the lowest bidder, and that the cost be levied against the property. The property in question is owned by the following: Claude Ferguson, Fanny Giddings and D. F. Walker, Jr. The report was approved and the resolution making the necessary assessment of the tax against the property was adopted.

A. P. Larson, city auditor, submitted the resignation of W. T. Adams as deputy city auditor to take effect October 1. Mr. Adams stated in his letter to the auditor that he was resigning on account of ill health. The resignation was accepted.

George A. Graves, chief of the fire department, submitted a report of his recent trip to the fire chiefs' convention at Providence, R. I. He stated that as the department was being operated short-handed that he had appointed Bruce Hamilton and Roy Hadlock as new members of the department and asked the board's confirmation of the same. He also asked for 2,000 additional feet of hose. The communication was referred to the superintendent of public safety.

The city engineer reported a total of $2,024.50 due the Utah Power & Light company for furnishing lights to the city for the month of August after deducting the number of free lights and the number of hours that certain lights were out. The claim was referred to the superintendent of streets.

Upon the recommendation of Commissioner Flygare, the maps and plans for the construction of a spurline on Lincoln avenue to the American Can factory was approved.

The bond of the Wheelwright Construction company for the work in sewer district No. 123 was approved. The application of George Myers for a rooming house license at 179 Twenty-fifth street was referred to the public safety department.

A petition was received from H. Stevens and other residents on Thirtieth street between Jefferson and Madison avenues asking the city to investigate the possibilities of extending the water mains on that street. Referred to Commissioner Miles L. Jones.

G. J. S. Abels and other residents of Herrick avenue filed a petition with the commissioners asking that Herrick avenue be accepted by the city as a public thoroughfare. The petition stated that the street was paved, had sewer and gas and electric lights and all the necessary improvements completed and would be little cost to maintain. Referred to Commissioner Flygare.

DeWitt Brothers filed a claim with the city asking for $237 damages alleged to be due for a stock of goods in the basement of their store at 11 Twenty-fifth street, which was alleged to have been damaged during the recent flood. The claim was referred to the superintendent of finance.

Ordinances were adopted for the levying of a special tax for the following: Sidewalk district No. 142, $2,056; paving district No. 118, $25,402.99; curb and gutter district No. 120, $2,197.72, and for sidewalk district No. 114, $10,413.32. Districts 142 and 144 are on Twelfth street from Washington to Van Buren avenues, Henninger and Farley avenues; district 118 is Twenty-sixth street between Washington and Madison avenues; district 120 is on Twenty-sixth street between Madison and Monroe avenues.

LOUISE VAN DYKE IS SUCCESSFUL ON APPEAL

As the result of an appeal in the supreme court of Utah in the case of Louise Van Dyke, nee Louise Turner, plaintiff and appellant, against the Ogden Savings bank, defendant and respondent, the judgment of the lower court was yesterday reversed and the case was remanded to the district court of Weber county, with directions for a new trial.

The amount involved is $5531.83. At the trial in the lower court practically the entire question hinged upon the genuineness of the plaintiff's signatures to the checks that were drawn against the deposit and the authority of her husband to withdraw her money from the bank.

"The plaintiff variously contends," says the supreme tribunal, "that the lower court failed to exercise or had abused its discretion in refusing to grant her a new trial upon the ground of newly discovered evidence. The defendant insists that the rulings were right, because the newly discovered evidence was merely cumulative and that the plaintiff did not exercise due or any diligence to obtain and procure said newly alleged evidence."

Attention is then called to the fact that the new evidence includes photographic enlargements of the signatures in question, procured between the time of the new trial and the appeal by the prosecuting attorney in the name of the state of Utah.

Such evidence, it is remarked, was not available at the time of the trial, although the plaintiff's handwriting experts sought possession of and were denied sight or use of the documents out of the presence of the court stenographer.

The court states that it requires no amount of argument to convince a disinterested mind that the enlarged signatures make much clearer the characteristics and peculiarities of the signatures that are in dispute and, therefore, make clear that which without them was obscure and extremely doubtful. However, the supreme court passes no judgment upon the impression made on it by the enlargements.

DAVIS-WEBER LAND COMPANY FORMED

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Davis-Weber Land Co. The capital stock is $5,000. The company is composed of Emmet E. Annis as president, Albert E. Annis, secretary, and O. A. Parnley, treasurer. The articles show that the company was organized for the purpose of doing a general land and irrigation business. E. F. Annis has 250 shares, A. E. Annis 250 shares and Parnley 50. The stock is divided into 5,000 shares with a par value of $1 each.

TOMATO CROP IS CUT BY FROSTS

Further heavy frosts probably will cause an early cessation of canning tomatoes at the local factories in the opinion of three canning inspectors who are making Ogden their headquarters while they conduct an inspection of the local canneries. The inspectors are George P. Tingas, of Salt Lake City, E. A. Wilde of Croydon and M. B. Mann of Woods Cross. These, with two other inspectors, were appointed by Governor Spry. The inspectors each have a separate district and work under the direction of the department of food and dairy inspection. The inspection entirely is restricted to the sanitary condition of the canning plants and to the quality of the material.

Mr. Tingas has the canneries at Brigham, Five Points, West Weber and Uintah. E. A. Wilde takes Woods Cross, Kaysville, Layton, Clearfield, Davis County and the Rio Grande. Mr. Mann is inspecting the Wasatch, Orchard, Pioneer, Van Allen, Wright & Whittier and Riverdale.

FARMERS SEEK TO HAVE EXHIBIT

For refusing to make an appropriation to defray expenses of a Weber county farm exhibit at the state fair, county commissioners yesterday were criticised in resolutions adopted by the Weber County Farm Bureau. The resolutions stated the action of the commissioners had been based upon a misconception of conditions. The reason advanced for refusing to make the necessary appropriation was an alleged failure of crops.

The farm bureau directors say the crop failure is in fruit alone. It was pointed out that only 2,300 acres of land are devoted to fruit culture, while 45,000 acres are devoted to agriculture. The general farm crops have been good and the farmers claim a general farm exhibit that would have been a credit to the county could have been made.

The farm bureau directors later adopted a resolution holding it to be the attitude of the Weber county bureau to encourage members to do business with those banks and business houses that support and favor the movement to better the agricultural interests of the country. The meeting was attended by L. R. Simmons, of Washington, D. C., government specialist in farm bureau work. He delivered an address on the work of farm bureau organizations in the east.

As a result of information received from the advance representative of the federal farm loan bank, board members were authorized to take charge of plans for obtaining information to be submitted to the board when it visits Utah next Wednesday. Meetings of all branch associations of the bureau are to be held tonight and Tuesday night for the purpose of obtaining from the farmers themselves information on these three questions: How much money will you want to borrow from the farm loan bank? What is the total amount now standing against your property in the form of mortgage? How much interest do you pay?

MAD DOG CAME FROM PROMONTORY POINT

The elegance of simplicity is said to have been the factor that Harvest Festival and Fashion Show judges used as a basis for the decision in awarding the first prize to the Wolfers' Cloak & Suit Company, of which A. F. Wolfers is local manager, for displaying the best dressed window to Fashion Show crowds. The prize received by the Wolfers company was for the best dressed medium sized window. The first prize for the best dressed smallest window was awarded to the Princess Millinery store, and the first prize for the best dressed largest window was awarded to the Ogden Furniture Company's store.

The display windows of the Wolfers store revealed some exquisitely beautiful evening gowns which are the latest creations for the fall season and which are obtainable only for the highest price that is paid for garments of the character. The materials used are the most expensive on the market, while the tailoring is superb. Included in the display were evening gowns of dark blue velvet overlaid and trimmed in fancy lace combinations, a gown of lace and satin combination, while another was of handsome beaded material. The floral display consisted of the choicest flowers obtainable. These seemed to typify the spirit of the autumnal season and fitted in the scheme of natural simplicity that made the window the most attractive in the class in the opinion of the judges.

MAD DOG CAME FROM PROMONTORY POINT

News, indicating that the rabid dog, which caused a big scare at North Ogden several weeks ago and was killed there, originally came from the Promontory district, has been received by City Health Inspector George Shorten, in a letter from S. O. Farr. The latter, written at Promontory, is as follows:

"George Shorten: Dear Sir—I noticed in the papers that rabid dog was recently caught in North Ogden, after it had caused a little excitement. Thinking it might help you in case any more rabid animals are heard of around Ogden, I write to tell you where that animal came from.

shepherd dog went to the Sheehan ranch, six miles north of Promontory Point and bit one of the dogs there. Then it came on down to Promontory Point and bit a dog here, which the people killed, and then it started east toward Ogden, along the Southern Pacific tracks. It crossed the cut-off over the lake on a run and bit a dog at Bagley, the first siding on the lake. After leaving the siding, the animal kept on going eastward and that was the last we heard of it until we read in the papers that it had been caught at North Ogden.

"I guess that dog must have gone through all of the little towns west of Ogden, until it reached North Ogden, and there is no way of telling how many more dogs and cattle it bit.

"Hoping this little bit of information will be of help to you, I am, Yours truly, (Signed) S. O. FARR."

PROGRESSIVES BACK IN PARTY

New York, Sept. 11.—Herbert Parsons of the national Republican committee commented on the results of the Maine election as follows:

"The Maine election shows that the people of this country want the Democrats out and the Republicans in. The vote is along party lines. The Republicans and Progressives are united to defeat the Wilson administration."

"The Republicans carry Maine by more than 15,000 and elect a governor, two United States senators and all four congressmen. This is a clean sweep."

Charles B. Warren, national committeeman from Michigan, said:

"Voting in Maine clearly shows that Progressive voters have returned in a body to the Republican party and are voting the straight Republican ticket.

"This bears out the statement that Progressive voters have returned in a body to the Republican ticket. If Mr. Hughes receives the Progressive votes that were cast in 1912, as is predicted by Maine returns, he will receive approximately 302 electoral votes. He needs only 265 to win."

ALL TRUE.

The Rev. George R. Lunn, the Socialist mayor of Schenectady, was congratulated on his election.

"The people have confidence in the honesty of my party's policy," he said. "Our opponents tried to put our principles in a false light, but the people wouldn't be fooled. They knew that the opposition's animadversions on our principles were as misleading as the bachelor's description of his sister's new baby."

"Asked to describe this new arrival, the bachelor replied:

"Um! Very small features, clean shaven, red faced and a very hard drinker."
